DAVIS THEATRE.

Last Chance to See Carmen, the Greatest of All Photo-plays.

One of the greatest feature photo-plays ever shown in this theatre is the one that has been exhibited the last two days. "Carmen" has been the silent drama but this is the first time that grand opera has been enacted with every detail minutely correct. "Carmen" is known to all theatregoers and the famous Toreador scene is acted in the picture showing a real bull fight which could not be shown on any other stage. The music played during this picture is taken from the opera and is fitted to each scene just as it is done during the performance of the opera. The last day this picture will be shown and no one can afford to miss this wonderful picture. The Emile sisters are keeping things humming in the air and will give trapeze acts; these two youthful artists are away ahead of anything in the aerial line that has ever appeared in this city. Both and Howard are giving big favorites in their black and tan comedy and the boxing roosters are really original. Nellie Miller gives a whole lot out of her comedy songs and Irish stories. Conrad and Radolph are the clever character entertainers who do the most original and original specialties. Next Monday will see another headline bill at the Davis which includes such talent as the Three Xylos, who do a refined musical and dancing specialty; Jack and Mabel Price, a classy singing and talking act with special scenery; Ray and Irving, novelty character change artists and E. T. Alexander, the novelty lightning picture act, who paints all his pictures in oils and will give two paintings away to the ladies at each performance. The feature photo-play is a southern drama in two reels called "A Slave's Devotion," the usual high class drama and comedies will also be shown.

BREED THEATRE.

A Dangerous Fox, Biograph, Featuring Genuine Chinese Hero.

A picture of more than usual interest is the Biograph story, now being featured at the Breed under the title of "A Dangerous Fox." This tremendously thrilling drama introduces a distinct novelty in the shape of a genuine Chinese actor who plays the part of the most strenuous Biograph that has ever been produced, and is exceedingly meritorious. The Open Secret, the splendid two-reel subject, deals with the secret marriage of a son of wealthy parents, who are anxious to marry him to a girl of their choice. How the secret marriage is disclosed and how the parents are enabled to make visits to their son's household unknown to each other, is best told in the film. An Unwilling Separation, is the very first story of Decoration day and a scene of Palm Beach and the Bravest Girl in California top off this fine program.

Last Day of The Girls from the Follies at the Auditorium.

Today is the last chance the people of Norwich and vicinity will have to see the famous Girls from the Follies, the lively musical comedy, which has been delighting the patrons of the Auditorium all this week. Messrs. Steppes and Marlin, the funny comedians, have arranged many new songs and dancing numbers, and a lot of new comedy business has been introduced, so that those who saw this company the first part of the week will see practically an entire new act. If you want a good laugh, don't miss this.

The photo-plays today are exceptionally good, the Elclair production in two parts of Eugene Sue's great novel "Mathilde" holding the first place. This is a very exciting drama with an absorbing plot. The Angelus, a beautiful Rex production, and The Ranch Stenographer, a funny western comedy complete the list for today.

For Monday another one of those big musical comedies that have proven so popular has been engaged for three days. It is entitled "The Dancing Nymphs," and it is a unique and original terpsichorean conception, with pretty girls, music, costumes, scenery. There are nine bewitching young ladies in this act.

The photo-plays for Monday are: The Smuggler's Daughter, a two-reel Rex sensational drama; The Squashville Ladies Fire Brigade, the latest film from the Nestor company ever made, and two Crystal comedies, Accident Insurance, and Her Lady Friends.
